The Strawberry Lounge Story - How I Got Over My Fears, Dumped My Excuses and Opened the Business of My Dreams, the Motherpreneur Way

By Christina Waschko

In my dream I was forever young, childless and living the sunny life of the Caribbean. When I dared to make it happen I was 40, had three children and lived in The Netherlands. At this point "Motherpreneurial-ship" happened. This book will give you a real insight into creating your dream. In my case it was starting a coffee lounge. We are talking about sweat, tears, laughter, and missed soccer matches. This is not a how-to-book, it is more of a story. A story embedded with invaluable advice on how to start and establish your business. You will read - among other things: - That it takes more imagination than capital to open up a coffee lounge. - How fancy dress costumes have more value than real money. - Your children are not a good excuse to avoid what your heart desires. - Why turning 40 may be the beginning of your new life! The story of "Strawberry Lounge", a berrylicious read indeed.
